2. Scope

Procurement, manufacturing and conversion claims, tenders, capability statements, website content, product labels and Australian Made licence activity.

3. Policy statement and commitment

MISCO is Australian-owned and performs machining, fabrication, cutting, assembly, kitting and related activities in Australia. Many sheet, rod, tube and accessory materials are supplied or imported. MISCO will describe each product's origin and MISCO's contribution accurately and will not imply that imported material was manufactured in Australia.

4. Mandatory requirements

- Prefer capable Australian suppliers and service providers where quality, specification, availability, risk and total value support the decision.
- Separate company ownership, local processing and product country of origin in all claims.
- Make an 'Australian Made' claim only where the product satisfies applicable country-of-origin law and supporting records demonstrate the last substantial transformation in Australia.

- Do not use the Australian Made, Australian Grown certification trade mark without a current licence covering the specific registered product.
- Maintain material-source, process and cost or transformation evidence needed for approved claims and tenders.
- Review claims when suppliers, processes, product configuration or licensing status change.
- Correct inaccurate or ambiguous claims promptly.

5. Implementation and operational controls

- Maintain an approved origin-claim schedule by product family.
- Require marketing and tender claims to be checked against evidence.
- Use precise verbs: manufactured, machined, fabricated, converted, assembled, supplied or imported as factually appropriate.
- Coordinate Australian Made licence applications and renewals through authorised management.
